VOLUME 4 NUMBER 2

Like a Soap Opera, Saga Continues

Chief and Union Still at Odds!

For some time now, Fred Dansby, Romulus Police Chief, and Timothy O'Neil, Romulus Police Officer and Romulus Police Officers' Association (RPOA) President, have been butting heads over several contract issues, one of which concerned the distribution of, and subsequent training on, some new 9mm weapons that the City ordered and paid for at the officers' request. (For further details, please see "Police Chief and Union President Wasting Money — 9mm Weapons Still Not Issued; Both at Fault!" which appeared on the front page of The Romulus News on July 11, 1990.)

At this time, the problem remains unresolved, though communication concerning the subject continues between the two parties.

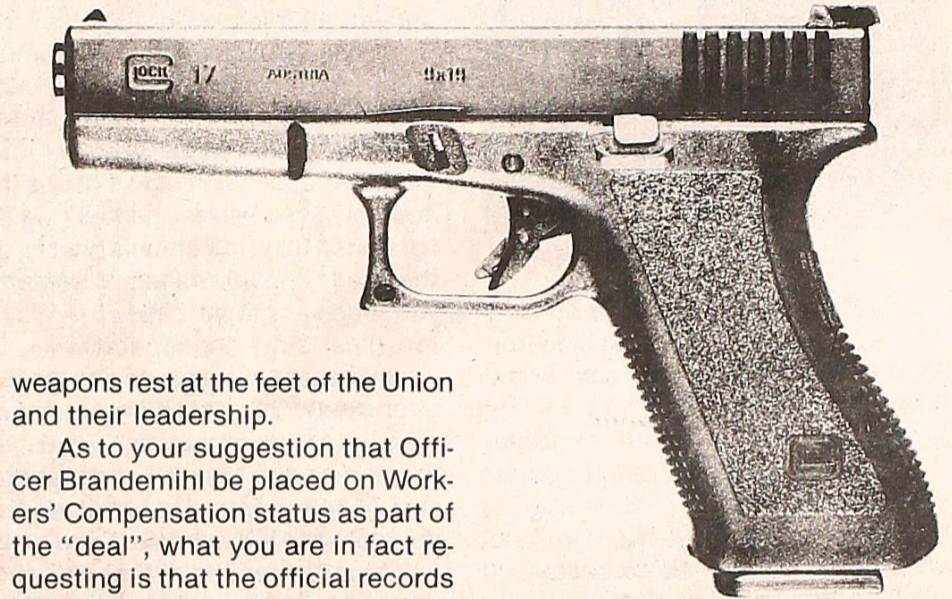

To shed further light on these new developments, Mayor Beverly McAnally provided me with a copy of some recent correspondence between Dansby and O'Neil. The following is the verbatim text of those two letters.

(This first letter, dated July 12, 1990, is from Chief Dansby to Officer O'Neil. It concerns a previous communication, dated July 2, sent to Dansby by O'Neil on the subject of 9mm weapons training.)

Police Officer O'Neil:

I wish to take this opportunity to set the record straight; in your communication of July 2, 1990, you make reference to "this deal", I wish the record to be clear from the beginning, I am not in the business of making deals with anyone.

In further answer to July 2, 1990, communication, you should be aware of the fact that the sole reason the Officers are not receiving training on the 9 MM weapons is your doing. It was you, and no one else, who placed a notice on the Union Bulletin Board, to the members of the Romulus Police Department not to change their leave days in order to obtain the training with the new 9 MM weapons. The sole reason the Officers of the Romulus Police Department do not have the newly purchased 9 MM weapons rest at the feet of the Union and their leadership.

As to your suggestion that Officer Brandemihl be placed on Workers' Compensation status as part of the "deal", what you are in fact requesting is that the official records of the Romulus Police Department be altered to show that Officer Brandemihl was injured while on duty, when that is not the case. A determination as to whether or not an individual is entitled to Workers' Compensation benefits is not a determination for the department to make, but is rather a decision for the Personnel Department and the insurance carrier. I do not have the authority to place a person on Workers' Compensation status, even if I wanted to. You are of course aware that I have independently, without requesting anything from you, placed Officer Brandemihl on light duty status in order that he not go off the payroll and therefore, he and his family suffer an economic hardship.

As to the training on the 9 MM weapons, said training can start tomorrow if the Officers agree to return to the former practice of scheduling said training as part of their daily work assignment which would

Golf Outing Nets $5,000 To Fight Drugs

by Dave Atkins

On Tuesday, July 24, the Romulus Police Department presented Mayor Beverly McAnally with a check for $5,000 for use in her fight against drugs. The Mayor's Drug Task Force will use the money to pay for flyers, programs, and more.

The money was raised in the Drug Task Force's annual Golf Outing fund raiser, held two weeks ago at the Shady Hollow Golf Course in Romulus. Golfers enjoyed prizes, trophies, and food, and a good time was had by all.

This year's outing was the most successful one yet. In fact, there were so many entrants that some could not join in the play because of the lack of time allotted for the event.

The winners of this year's tournament were Dan Bales and Dick Kruse, with a nine under par 63. Their round included eight birdies and one eagle in the two-man-scramble format. The team of Mays and Morris was second with a 65.

Police Detective Dan Snyder, Officer John Smagner, Lieutenant David Early, and Narcotics Officer Rafalski (who is not pictured — for obvious reasons) presented the check to the Mayor (with a guarantee that it would not bounce!), and McAnally indicated how happy she was with the efforts of everyone concerned with the golf outing and the war against drugs. She stated that she would like to see not only a drug-free Romulus, but a drug-free United States as well.

The Mayor feels that drug dealers are a major cause of the crime in our streets because of the adverse effect that drugs have on the people using them, especially our young people of today.

McAnally and the Romulus Police Department are already hard at work putting together the Golf Outing for next year. There is some talk that it may be held at a different golf course because of the increasing interest in the event. □

Wick Road Officially Opens

by Dennis Oakes, Director, Community Development Department / Tax Increment Finance Authority

Friday, July 27, will be the date of the ribbon-cutting ceremonies for the Wick Road construction project. The completion of Wick Road is the first step by the City's Tax Increment Finance Authority (TIFA) in the development area north of Metro Airport. Construction of the concrete two-lane road was commenced late last year. Dan's Excavating Co. of Utica was the low bidder for the project. The total cost is expected to be about $1.3 million.

THE EDITOR'S OPINION

The Games People Play

As you well know, I, as the editor of this newspaper, do not try to hide from anyone for any reason. If I have something that I want or need, I go to the source and tell him/her of my plight.

I am starting a new newspaper (to be called The Wayne News) in the City of Wayne next month. No, it will not affect The Romulus News because it will be a totally different paper — not like those put out by Associated Newspapers, where, basically, all six papers are one and the same with the exception of a couple of "pull pages." (That saves them a few bucks.)

Needless to say, one of the reasons that "the little paper" has been so well accepted in Romulus is because of its straightforward, outspoken content and my willingness to tell the truth and present all the facts.

It is quite evident that Associated's circulation has decreased somewhat in the Romulus area since I started publishing The Romulus News just a little over three years ago. I guess that, possibly, they fear the same thing that happened to us in Romulus (that is, that the public and advertisers accepted us with open arms) will happen in Wayne, too. (I certainly hope that it will.)

In the last few days, I have received phone calls from two different Associated News employees who were trying to get a copy of our advertising "rate card" while pretending to be business people in the Wayne area. I don't know what made them think that I was born yesterday. Most owners of small businesses are not aware of what a "rate card" is unless they have been educated in the newspaper business, and most certainly don't use or know the meaning of terms like "camera-ready" (as these women did) unless they are in some way involved in the printing business, an advertising agency, or a similar line of work. I guess they also think I'm pretty stupid, because they expected me to believe that an advertiser would ask me for a rate card, yet not be willing to give me a business address or business telephone number.

Sorry about that. I have been in sales all my life, and things just aren't done that way, folks.

I'm not out to hurt anyone, nor am I out to put anyone out of business. However, the ethics of the people who contacted me are possibly a little less than desirable, and I certainly am glad that they do not work for me because I would have to fire them for such practices.

So, I called Associated after one of their little girls came in and asked for a rate card (she was refused), telling us that she was an aerobics teacher who was opening a dance studio, but that she had no phone number where she could be reached because she would be working out of her house. Teaching aerobics and no phone? I wonder how she gets her customers. Flyers? Newspaper ads? Word of mouth? Telephone solicitation? Oh, I forgot — she didn't have a phone.

Anyway, to make a long story short, I called Associated's sales manager and told her that, if she wanted a copy of this paper's price list, she could write to request one and I would send it to her. (She, by the way, did not extend that same courtesy to me.) I also told her what I thought about her ethics, and that I play some pretty stiff games, too.

Oh, well, so goes another day at a newspaper office at deadline time. (That means that we are putting the paper to bed so that we can deliver it to you tomorrow.)

Don't worry, folks, The Wayne News will not affect The Romulus News in any way. As you have done for the last three years, take my word for it. (You have always been able to trust that statement.) □ require the City to pay them straight time, rather than time and one-half. The decision is yours and yours alone.

Should you have any question, please feel free to contact me and I remain.

Very truly yours,
Fred N. Dansby

(This second letter, dated July 13, 1990, is from Officer O'Neil in reply to Chief Dansby's letter.)

Dear Chief Dansby,

If you wish to deny the fact that we discussed at great length an "arrangement" (since you don't make deals) allowing Brandemihl to return to work on light duty in exchange for every RPOA member voluntarily training at straight time on the 9MMs then so be it. That is your choice.

However, the fact remains that Brandemihl is on light duty for what the City claims is a non-duty injury. Because of this we will train on the 9MM at straight time whenever it is convenient to you. It is and always has been a management responsibility to schedule training. It is not and never has been an employee's right to refuse training by Management. It appears the decision at this point is entirely yours.

The Union position of not voluntarily changing shifts and off days at Management's convenience was a decision made by all at a general membership meeting. Please observe the posting to contain nearly everyone's signature.

Outside of the 9MM training this remains the Union's position until we are treated fairly.

Thanks,
T. O'Neil □

House Okays "Dangerous Buildings" Bills

Two bills approved by the House would give municipalities more options in dealing with abandoned buildings. Under the legislation, a building unoccupied for 180 days or more could be declared a "dangerous building." Abandoned buildings could be repaired or demolished by the municipality, which could place a property tax lien against the property or any other assets that the owner holds in Michigan. Supporters of the legislation say that the bills will help cities rid neighborhoods of neglected houses that lower property values, and often end up as havens for drug dealers and breeding grounds for rats and roaches.

Bills Give Real-estate Appraisers a Separate Category

Real-estate appraisers would have their own category for State licensing under legislation passed by the House. Currently, appraisers are licensed as real-estate sales persons. The legislation would set up a board of appraisers and establish a licensing fee schedule. Fees would range from a $25 application fee and a $50 licensing fee.

New Law Protects Abused Seniors

A recently enacted State law adds specific actions to the definition of "elder abuse" to increase the protection available to Michigan senior citizens. The new law addresses the connection between substance abuse and certain instances of elder abuse, and will coordinate State prevention services for these related problems.

Highway Construction Workers Will Be Protected by New Law

A new State law will allow highway officials to set speed limits through highway construction zones depending on each site's potential work hazard. State transportation officials say many motorists tend to speed through construction areas if they see no work being done. Under the new law, speed limits could remain at 55mph where no work is being done, and be reduced to 35mph where the actual work is taking place. With varying speeds at each site, motorists may be more likely to comply with posted speeds.

New Law Allows Second Firearm Deer License

A new State law will allow an individual to purchase a second firearm deer license in one season for specific areas. Responsible hunters recognize hunting as not only a sport but as a necessary method to control certain wild-animal populations. The new law will give the Department of Natural Resources more flexibility in managing deer herds when they overpopulate an area.

Measure Would Further Punish Drug Use

Legislation introduced in the House seeks to strengthen Michigan's drug laws by establishing civil fines up to $500 for individuals convicted of using illegal drugs. Under current law, conviction of illegal drug use will incur a misdemeanor jail sentence and fines. The civil fine would be in addition to any other fines and penalties that may apply, and would go into a State fund established for substance abuse prevention and treatment programs. □

Point of Law

by Murray A. Duncan, Jr., Attorney

Child support is determined by the Michigan Child Support Guideline Manual. The guideline is based on parental income and family size. The net weekly income is determined for each parent and then that figure is computed into the guideline. For example, if the custodial parent earns $200 net pay per week and the non-custodial parent earns $450 net pay per week, the guideline would call for the following support amounts: for five children, $219 per week; for four children, $199 per week; for three children, $175 per week; for two children, $136 per week; and for one child, $89 per week.

Factors which may reduce the amount calculated above would be:

- a prior support order that the non-custodial parent is presently paying on, and

- minor children of the non-custodial parent presently living with the non-custodial parent.

The court must follow the guideline if the custodial parent is receiving public assistance of any kind. If there is no public assistance, the parties may agree to vary from the guideline.

The non-custodial parent's living expenses generally will not be considered to lower child support from the guideline. Also, step-children will generally not be considered when determining child support.

If you have a legal question that you would like answered, you may send your question to my office and I will attempt to address it in a future issue. Questions should be mailed to: Murray A. Duncan, Jr., 10000 South Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan 48174. □

The Lighter Slice

by Tom Shamanski

A Hypnotic Tail

Recently, I went to a hypnotist. There were a few personal gremlins catching up with me, and chanting, fiber, and Oprah weren't helping much, so I decided to try hypnosis.

Now, finding a good hypnotist is almost as difficult as chewing one of my boss's Milk Bones 32 times before swallowing. However, through a co-worker of a friend of a cousin of a descendant of Sigmund Freud, I finally prevailed. Soon, I had an appointment with a Madam Lew E. Looney.

Thinking I'd find her in a darkened, perhaps even sinister, setting, I was surprised when I inched into a long, winding driveway, at the end of which stood a huge, bright, three-story, yellow bricked home, with an attached three-car garage. Wow, I wondered, where the heck does one apply for a hypnotizing job?

Having at least two acres of land, Madam Looney had several animals running around — namely, a gaggle of geese, literally litters of cats, several dozen laboratory mice, two packs of king-sized camels, a giraffe with an attached rope ladder, and partridges in a pair of trees. Obviously, the Madam was an animal lover; however, approaching her house, I noticed all the animals were barking like dogs. Figuring she must practice hypnosis on her pets, I quickly removed my flea collar.

Madam L. was a pleasant woman, somewhat tall, with long, reddish hair, and needles sticking out of various parts of her body. Immediately, I told her I wanted nothing to do with acupuncture. Not to worry, she said, revealing three more needles in her tongue; she wasn't an acupuncturist, she just sewed a lot and hated losing needles.

Sticking herself with needles to prevent their loss was a terrific idea, I thought. Plus, her body became, in effect, a portable sewing machine.

"You've got a great idea, there, Madam Looney. Have you ever tried to patent it?" I asked.

"The needle thing? Well, yes, I did try to a few years ago, but they asked me to demonstrate it so many times, I ended up being adopted by a childless porcupine couple from Chili."

Anyway, after a few Looney sessions, my problems did, indeed, begin to lighten. By then, though, I wanted more; I wanted to learn hypnosis.

"Madam Looney, would you teach me how to hypnotize others?"

"So, all of a sudden, you want to learn hypnosis? But, why?"

"It's simple, really. There's much pain, suffering, and misery in the world, and maybe, with hypnosis, I'll be able to help, in my own way, all the people on planet Earth."

"Yes, Tom, but what's the reason?" Pretending not to hear her, I wagged my tail and barked my thanks.

And so she taught me. After 39 additional sessions, I was able to put almost anyone in a hypnotic state within a minute. As the Madam and I parted for the last time ("So, don't be a stranger; come for tea."), she ended, saying, "Listen, honey, if you become a famous hypnotist, be sure to tell all the people you learned it the Looney way."

She wished me luck, while patting my head. Then, turning, I loped to my car, pausing once at a large oak tree.

Overall, folks, hypnosis has helped me in several ways, such as relieving stress, eating less, and reducing my urges to chase cars and eat dinner while hanging from my gravity boots. Of course, the biggest benefit was becoming boss of my department at work. It seems my old boss was fired because he kept running around the office, hiking his leg, and barking like a dog.

So, all of a sudden, not a bad reason to learn hypnosis, eh? □

Rogalle Runs for Judge in 34th District Court

Felix F. Rogalle is now seeking election in the recently created judgeship in the 34th District Court, located in Romulus. The district covers the City of Belleville, the City of Romulus, Huron Township, Sumpter Township, and Van Buren Township.

Rogalle is a resident of Belleville, having graduated from Belleville High School, Michigan State University, and the Detroit College of Law. He is a veteran, having served in Germany from 1955 to 1957.

Rogalle brings extensive experience to his pursuit of the 34th District Court Bench. He has been practicing law for a total of 27 years, 23 of those years in private practice in Romulus. This community practice involves substantial trial work and hearings in the 34th District Court.

He is licensed to practice before all Michigan courts, the U.S. Court of Military Appeals, and the Supreme Court of the United States. He has an active trial practice and experience in district courts, as well as Wayne County Circuit and Probate courts. Rogalle is also a member of the State Bar of Michigan, American Bar Association, Michigan Trial Lawyers Association, Advocates Bar Association, Association of Trial Lawyers, Michigan Association of the Professions, and Catholic Lawyers Association. He served as special counsel for the State Bar of Michigan Grievance Panel and is an arbitrator for the American Arbitration Association.

One important problem facing the 34th District Court is a heavy caseload. This judgeship was created to alleviate this problem. The person who fills this judgeship must be willing to devote the hours necessary to reduce this heavy caseload and permit litigants to have their cases heard timely, thoughtfully, and fairly. The private practice of law uniquely prepares an attorney for this commitment. Rogalle feels fairness to all is important, as well as treating citizens in the community and visitors who will appear before the court with courtesy, decency, respect, and dignity. This new judicial seat is important and the person who fills it must be selected carefully. The community selects the person for the position because they feel that he or she will be fair, just, and equitable, and should be a knowledgeable adjudicator of their civil and criminal conflicts.

Rogalle believes the relationship between a judge and the community in which he or she serves is very important, and it is one of the keystones of our democratic way of life. The person selected for this judgeship should respect and understand the community in order to be fair in resolving disputes before the Court.

Rogalle has been active for many years, and understands it takes participation in government to make a better community. The candidate believes that a total commitment to understanding the matter beforehand is important. Rights of the victim are as important as the rights of the criminal defendant. His varied experience, both academic and practical, will be of great value as a judge. He has been active in the community. Rogalle has lived in three of the communities within the borders of the 34th District Court. He has participated in many charitable and governmental functions in all of the communities of the district.

A fund raiser has been scheduled for September 6, 1990. For campaign assistance or fund-raising information, please call 941-2735 or 697-3200. □

Wick Road is the first part of a planned $8-million investment in roads, water lines, sanitary and storm sewers, and landscaping in the 1,200+ -acre area north of I-94. The TIFA sold bonds last year to finance the public works construction, with the bonds being paid by the additional tax revenues generated by new private development investments in that area. No property taxes outside of that area are being used to pay for these improvements. In effect, the projects are self-financing.

Additional projects have already been approved by the TIFA and will soon be underway. Construction bids will be taken for extensive improvements to Wickham Road, between Merriman and I-94. Also, the TIFA will be letting bids for a major road project involving construction of a new four-lane boulevard on Smith and Vining roads, connecting Merriman to Wick Road and the new Vining Road interchange.

The major road program will provide excellent access to the major vacant land parcels north of I-94 and is expected to result in high-quality development of the area for additional office, hotel, R&D, retail, and multi-family residential projects. □

Exercises Strengthen Feet

by Dr. Jeffrey A. August, Foot Specialist and Surgeon

Three simple "kinetic" exercises for strengthening your feet and increasing foot flexibility are provided here.

- While sitting, and with your toes partly curled, push your feet firmly against the floor until you feel your arches rise. Repeat this as often as possible.
- Take off your shoes and step on the toes of one foot with the other foot. Try to raise the bottom foot while pushing down with the top foot. Repeat throughout the day.

- As you walk, rise on the toes of one foot before transferring your weight to the other foot.

Even if you only have five minutes a day to spend on an exercise routine, you can make your body "kinetically ready for active life."

You may obtain more comprehensive foot exercises from either the Belleville Foot Clinic or the Fund for Podiatry Education and Research, 9312 Old Georgetown Rd., Bethesda, MD 20814. □

SCHOOL SPORTS 'N' NEWS

Boone and Darr Seeks California Trip

Carrying a record of 18-9 for the summer, Boone and Darr moved into the Midwest Classic in Wooster, Ohio, last weekend to prepare for the Midwest Regional on July 28 and 29.

After finishing undefeated in League play (9-0), the Ann Arbor team moves into League playoffs this week. In tournament play, they have finished fifth in the 94-team Canton Classic, sixth in the Ann Arbor Fourth of July Tournament, and third in the Midland Classic.

"We are a very young team this year, with only two players returning who have played this level of competition," stated Coach Fred Coleman. "We will return nine of our 16 players next summer, and the experience we are obtaining this year will help tremendously.

"Unlike high school softball, it seems you never get a break," he continued. "Every team you play has outstanding pitching and defense, and you cannot afford to make any mistakes and still win."

Local talent is much responsible for Boone and Darr's success this summer.

Romulus senior, Jennifer Daniel, has moved her talents from shortstop/pitcher to center field, where her speed and ability to get to long fly balls has impressed a number of college coaches. Jennifer is second in total hits (21), average (.362), and runs scored (17), while accumulating only eight errors in her team-leading 69 chances at shortstop and center field.

Ex-Eagle, Andrea Young, now a Woodhaven athlete, is also having a fine summer, hitting at a .333 clip while holding down the position of third base.

Two Belleville seniors, Linda Pasek and Keisha Wilson, are also contributing greatly to this year's success, with Linda playing steadily at first base and Keisha (in left field) leading the team in hits (24), average (.381), RBI (22), and extra-base hits (10).

Taylor Kennedy's All-Area shortstop, Sarah Mason, has moved to second base for the Travel Team out of Ann Arbor, and is having an outstanding season. Sarah is hitting .356 with 21 hits and 15 RBI, and has made only four errors in 68 attempts at second base for a fielding average of .944.

The team hopes that their "tune-up" in last weekend's Midwest Classic has left them prepared for this weekend's important Regional Finals. The top two teams from that competition will advance to the Nationals in Lodi, California, to be held August 8-12.

Two tough Michigan teams from Saginaw and Richmond, plus Speinbauers out of Janesville, Wisconsin, are the teams that Boone and Darr must battle for their California trip. Hopefully, the next few days will fare well for the young team.

Updates will follow in future editions of The Romulus News. □

Softball Champions

by Mark Harden

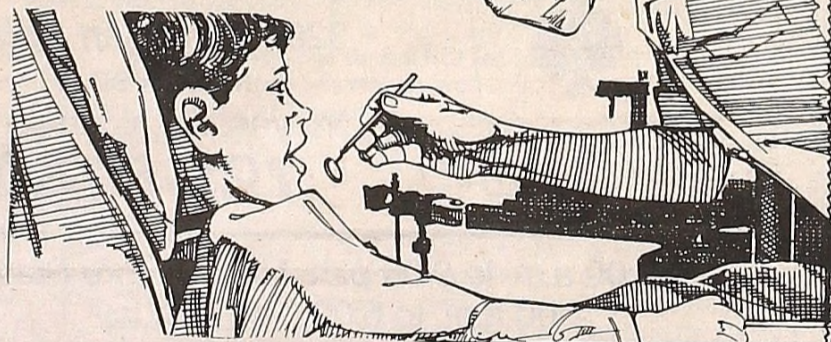

The Romulus Big League (consisting of 16- to 18-year-olds), came out with a big win this year, after sitting idle for four years. They finished in first place, with 11 wins and four losses (the four being lost by one run in each game). The victory is taking them to Kalamazoo to the playoffs. The teammates include: Everette Robbins, Dan Woods, Joshua

Fultz, Jeff O'Conner, Tim DuFore, Rich Evans, Eric Ward, Mark Harden, Ed Tank, Chad Filek, Ken Blevins, Tom Patterson, Steve Honeycutt, Bill Czaja, Brian Ellison, Adrian Teather, and Roy Sturdivant. The coaching staff is made up of: Brian Moore (Manager), Mark Harden (Coach), Joe Kusibab (Coach), and Paul Filek (Coach). □

Romulus Schools Look to the Future!

by Arthur McPharlin

Since my transfer from Halecreek School as its principal, I have had the pleasure of working with many teachers, support staff members, and parents who represent elementary, junior high, and senior high school programs. It is very encouraging to see what is being done to meet the needs of all students in Romulus. However, the responsibility of providing a meaningful and successful education for our students is much more challenging today than ever before. Lifelong learning is not only a basic right for every student; it is also a necessity for growth and work in an ever-changing world. Recently, at a dinner held in our high school cafeteria, a guest speaker, Justin Hixson, a Nationally known educator from Chicago, Illinois, told the audience that today, worldwide, the United States ranks 112 from the top in the field of educational technology. Unless we change the direction that education is going today, we may become a second-class nation.

Today, students must have the ability to analyze, reason, and solve problems. They need to have group-interaction and cooperation skills. In a changing world, students will need to be at ease with technology, be exposed to many subject areas, and have a sense of world citizenship with an awareness of past political, social, and economic development. Education today must be more than a memorization of facts; it is a grasp of the concepts which intertwine the past, present, and future. As schools prepare today for the new challenges of tomorrow, knowledge of the basic skills of reading, writing, math, science, and language become the foundation for a student to be responsible for his/her education. The home provides the environment; the schools, the catalyst for learning.

Note: The Romulus School District wants to communicate with all citizens in our city. We appreciate the opportunity that The Romulus News provides us to speak with you. If you have a question, concern, or idea that you wish to raise, please address it to me at the Board of Education Office, 36540 Grant Road, Romulus, MI 48174, or The Romulus News, 11114 Sterling, Romulus, MI 48174. Thank you. □

Educational Technology

More than 35 parents from Romulus attended a Board of Education-sponsored Educational Technology Workshop at Barth Elementary School on July 11, 1990, to hear representatives from Childs Associates discuss how technology can assist students with learning in the regular classroom. The two-hour session was divided into three parts. First, Dr. Childs, an educational technology professor from Wayne State University, shared his knowledge with parents about current technology used in school buildings and classrooms. "One goal in education today is to reach and develop each student's potential using the power and features of modern technology," Childs stated. He continued, saying, "Our challenge is to make technology so instructionally sound, easy to use, and available to all students and teachers that it cannot be ignored by anyone in education." A 12-minute VCR tape from the Forest Hills School District (outside Grand Rapids, Michigan) was shown.

The second part of the workshop had parents completing comment and/or question cards that were read and answered by Dr. Al Stahl, an associate of Childs' company. Here, parents shared with each other the excitement and concerns they had for such a program. One card stated, "We are already behind other school districts; let's get started now." Another parent questioned where the money would come from for such a program.

The last part of the session combined the parents' questions with the consultants' answers. A good dialogue took place as parents very interested in their child's education and the education of all students in Romulus discussed with Dr. Childs the direction of the School District for the next three to five years.

Also, a parent computer-awareness session was held July 19, 1990, at Barth Elementary School. Three sessions (morning, afternoon, and evening) had parents working directly on a computer. Parents were introduced to and made aware of computers in technology through the integrated learning system (ILS). They were led through a guided practice of word processing on the computer and completed some major lessons in curriculum areas such as reading, math for life, science, and writing. Integrated into the lessons was the use of on-line tools like a notebook, pop-up calculator, and word processor. After the lessons were completed, there was a question and answer period. All sessions for the workshop were filled by interested and excited parents who are eager to see how technology can better educate and prepare their children for the twenty-first century. If you would like to participate in a similar session, call Art McPharlin at 941-1600 to arrange a time convenient for you. □

High School Sports to Begin

by Fred Coleman, Romulus Schools Athletic Director

On Monday, August 13, varsity and junior varsity football, varsity and junior varsity girls' basketball, cross country (men's and women's), and varsity golf will all begin their fall workouts.

Before you can practice, you must have a physical and proof of medical insurance on file in my office.

Medical release forms and insurance information can be obtained from my office by calling 941-3414 on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, or Fridays (usually in the morning).

Physicals can be obtained in the Teen Health Center at Romulus High School Monday through Friday, or by making an appointment with your family doctor. If you do not obtain a physical card, simply get a note from your doctor stating that you are eligible for athletic competition.

G.M. Underwriters has once again offered us a policy for our athletes which will cover them for the entire year. The cost varies from $22 to $98, depending upon the coverage that you desire. Again, information can be obtained from my office.

Don't forget that you will not be allowed to practice until you have had your physical, and most teams will cut within the first week of practice. If you plan to play fall sports at the High School, you had better get your physical NOW so that you can begin practice with the teams this August 13. □

"CALL AHEAD FOR FASTER SERVICE"

40th Wedding Anniversary

Romulus residents Robert J. and Rose B. (Kesser) Means will celebrate 40 years of marriage this Sunday, July 29, 1990, by renewing their commitment to each other in a ceremony at St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus. It will be the fourth time that the two have formally pledged themselves to one another.

DID YOU KNOW?

by AL

IT HAS BEEN ESTIMATED THAT MORE THAN FORTY MILLION PEOPLE THROUGHOUT THE WORLD ARE BLIND.

THE TARSIER IS A SMALL ANIMAL THAT LIVES IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC. IT IS ACTIVE AT NIGHT AND HAS LARGE EYES AND EARS. ITS FINGERS ARE ADHESIVE AND ENABLE IT TO CLIMB TREES EASILY.

How deep is the ocean?

It's hard to understand just how deep the ocean is, as we splash around in knee-deep waves and wait for the streams of water to reach our sand castles. The sea-side is just the beginning of a vast and mysterious body of water.

The ocean's depth is measured not by looking, but by listening, using a device called sonar.

Sonar comes from the words Sound Navigation and Ranging. Sonar is also used by aircrafts to detect submarines, by fishing boats to locate schools of fish and by salvage companies to locate sunken wrecks.

Sonar works like this: Sound travels through water at the rate of 5,000 feet per second. By measuring the time it takes for the sound waves to go and return, and then dividing by two, scientists can estimate how deep the ocean is.

Using this method, scientists have discovered that the deepest part of all the oceans on earth is in the Pacific.

This spot is called Challenger Deep and is located southwest of the island of Guam in the Marianas Trench. The ocean floor is 36,198 feet below the surface.

Man has not been able to dive to depths such as this because of the pressure at this level. But he has explored the ocean floor to a depth of 35,800 feet in a bathyscaphe, a diving craft with a hull constructed to withstand pressure.

So the next time you dip your toes in the waves, ask your friend if he or she knows of Challenger Deep.

What makes quicksand?

The deep, fine sand we call quicksand forms on sand flats at the shore and at the bottom of streams and rivers which flow on top of bases of clay.

The smooth, rounded grains of sand slide past each other in wavy movements called swells. The swells form because the water has no place to drain on the clay base. It cannot penetrate the clay, so the sand stays saturated with water.

The sand and water mixture is similar to a thick fluid and swallows anything heavy that moves into it.

If a person is caught in quicksand, he or she should lie flat on his back with his arms outstretched. This will keep him afloat until he can roll out of it onto dry land.

Can you imagine, a whole train sank into quicksand in Colorado and was never found again, even though probes were sent 50 feet deep!
